Basic Crocheting Techniques

The same general crocheting method is used for creating all the dogs in this book. If you can crochet a Jack Russell Terrier, for example, you can use the same technique for the other dogs. Just follow the crocheting diagrams for each type of dog. Change the thickness of the thread to alter the sizes of the dogs.

Materials

Body: Brown and white bulky thread, synthetic cotton

Eyes: Black plastic sewing buttons, 2 pieces, 0.24 in

Nose: Black nose round button, 1 piece, 0.47 in

Tools

Crochet hook No. 4/0

Glue

Scissors

Felting needle (only for the Dalmatian)

Wool needle

Ring stitch markers

Thickness of threads and crochet hooks

Small dog (height: approx. 2.36 in) and medium dog strap (height: approx. 2.16 in) = light thread, crochet hook No. 3/0 or 2/0

Small dog strap (height: approx. 1.38 in) = fine thread, crochet hook No. 2/0

Crocheting the head (circular crocheting)

Making a slipknot for the central ring

1 Wind the thread twice around the index finger of your left hand.

2 Hold the end of the thread with your index finger and middle finger, and insert the crochet hook into the ring to pull the thread on the left end.

3 Pull the hook through the ring to tighten the ring around your finger.

1 Hook the thread, and pull it through the ring once again.

Making single crochets (first row)

2 The chain stitch is completed in the center.

3 Once the chain stitch is completed in the center, pull your index finger out of the ring, and hook your index finger on the thread you are going to work on. It is easier to crochet if you hold the thread with your ring finger and pinky finger.

1 Insert the crochet hook into the ring, and hook the thread.

2 Insert the thread into the ring, and then pull it out.

3 Hook the thread once again, and pull out the two stitches together.

4 After pulling out the thread, the single crochet is completed.

5 Repeat steps 1 to 4 five times, and make six stitches with a single crochet.

6 When six stitches are completed, loosen the ring with the hook to pull it out.

Tightening the ring

1 First, pull the end of the thread slightly in the center, and make sure the thread on the right can be tugged.

2 Next, pull the ring tugged on the right side slowly to your side to tighten the ring on the left.

3 The ring is tightened.

Crocheting without starting chains in the center (2nd row)

4 After tightening the ring on the left side, pull the end of the thread in the center again to also tighten the ring on the right side.

5 When the ring is tightened, the first row is completed. Now insert the crochet hook.

1 Insert the hook into the first stitch with a single crochet.

2 Hook the thread on the crochet hook and pull it out.

3 The thread is pulled out. Hook the thread once again in the same way, and pull the two stitches to make a single crochet.

4 The first stitch in the second row is completed.

Inserting a row marker ring

Insert a row marker ring into the first stitch of the second row to mark the starting point of the second row. This helps to find the starting point of the circular crocheting, and to make counting stitches and rows easier to do.

Double crochet

Insert the hook into the same stitch, and make one more stitch with a single crochet.

1 Make three stitches with a single crochet in the second row, and stop the hook in the middle of the fourth stitch.

2 Loop the different-colored thread around your finger and hook it. Change threads in the middle of the previous stitch.

3 Pull the hook with the two stitches hooked together. Now, you have a different-colored stitch.

4 Insert the hook into the next stitch, and pull out the thread, then sew single crochets.

5 Now, one stitch is done with a different-colored thread.

6 As done previously, change the white thread in the middle of the third stitch. Switch to the thread that has been put aside, and pull out the two stitches together.

7 The thread is pulled out. Switch threads and keep on crocheting without cutting the threads when changing their color.

8 When you reach one stitch before the row-counting ring, count the stitches to check if there are twelve stitches.

Replacing the row-counting ring

1 When the first row is done, take out the row-counting ring once, and make one stitch with a single crochet on the stitch that held the ring.

2 Once the stitch is crocheted, insert the row-counting ring into the same stitch. Replace the row-counting ring in each round.

3 Repeat the same steps, and crochet eight rows.

Making a single decrease

1 From the 9th row, make a single decrease to the number of stitches. First, insert the hook into a stitch to grab the thread.

2 Pull out the hooked thread.

3 Insert the hook into the next stitch, and grab the thread.

4 Pull out the thread. Here, three stitches are hooked on the crochet hook.

5 Hook the thread over the crochet hook, and pull out the three stitches together.

6 The thread is pulled out. This is a single decrease with a single crochet.

Making a slip stitch to finish

1 To finish with a slip stitch, insert the hook into the next stitch, and pull out the thread.

2 Pull out the other thread hooked on the crochet hook with the thread that was pulled out on the left side.

3 Pull out the thread from the crochet hook, and cut the thread, leaving some extra length.

4 Pull the thread to tighten it.

Making a mouth

Making chain stitches

1 Loop the thread on the hook from the rear side to the front, then twist the hook from the front to the rear side.

2 Hook the thread with the crochet hook to pull it through. (See page 71.)

3 A chain stitch is completed.

Making a single crochet (first row)

4 Repeat steps 2 and 3 to make five chain stitches, then make a starting chain.

1 Crochet single crochets on the chain stitches. Insert the hook to pull the top of the chain stitch of the 5th stitch on the reverse side.

2 Make a single crochet.

3 Insert a row marking ring into the first stitch.

4 Repeating the same steps, crochet four more single crochets into the top of the chain stitches on the reverse side.

5 At the end of the row, crochet two single crochets into one stitch.

6 Hook a single crochet into the same stitch on the reverse side.

7 Four single crochets are completed.

8 From the next stitch, crochet single crochets on the reverse side by hooking two threads together from the front side of the chain stitch.

Making a slip stitch

9 At the end of the chain stitch, crochet two more stitches into one stitch in the same way as in step 5.

1 Take out the row marking ring, then insert the hook into the first stitch of the first row that had the row marking ring. Pull out the thread over the crochet hook.

2 When the slip stitch is done, the first row is completed.

Sewing the 2nd row

1 First, make a starting chain of the 2nd row.

2 Insert the hook into the first stitch with a single crochet, and sew single crochets.

3 Using a single crochet, insert a row-counting ring into the first stitch in the 2nd row.

Making a double decrease

1 First, insert the hook into the first stitch to pull the thread.

2 Pull out the hooked thread

3 Next, insert the crochet hook into the second stitch to pull the thread.

4 Pull out the hooked thread.

5 Insert the hook into the third stitch to pull the thread.

6 Pull out the hooked thread. Now the needle holds four stitches.

7 Hook the thread on the crochet hook.

8 Pull the four stitches once. The double decrease is completed.

9 Sew five rows to complete the mouth.

Making the body, legs, ears, and tail

As shown on pages 32 and 33, make a slipknot in the center, crochet single crochets, and make a slip stitch from the 2nd row. Then make a starting chain and crochet single crochets, as shown on page 37. Finally, make the tail with circular crocheting in the same manner as the head.

Completed parts

The completed parts are shown in the photo above. Leave extra thread for the finishing stage.

Stuffing cotton

Stuffing cotton inside the mouth, head, and body

Stuff cotton into the head and the body. Do not stuff cotton inside the ears and tail.

Stuff cotton inside the mouth after attaching the nose to the head. Use a toothpick to stuff cotton into the legs and other tiny parts.

Making the head

Attaching the eyes

1 Insert white thread through the wool needle, and pass the needle from the neck and through the eye. Make a knot at the end of the thread.

2 Pass the needle back through where you pulled it out, and pass it through where the second eye will go.

3 Attach the second eye in the same way, and pull the needle through the rear side. Pass through the thread inside the head a few times, then cut the thread firmly to hide it.

4 The head, including the eyes, is done. To attach eyebrows, continue using the same thread you used for attaching the eyes.

Attaching the nose, mouth, and ears

Attaching the nose

- 1 Apply glue to the stem of the nose, and push it into the mouth.

- 2 Attach the triangular nose with its angle pointing down, and stuff cotton in it.

Attaching the mouth

- 1 Pass the thread's end through the wool needle. Attach the head.

Attaching the ears

- 2 The head, including the mouth, is done.

- 1 Pass the thread's end through the wool needle. Attach the ear to the head from the rear side.

- 2 After the rear side is attached, pass the needle from the front through the back continuously to attach the ears vertically.

- 3 To create folded ears, fold one ear and insert the needle into the base of the ear from the rear side. Then pass it through the tip of the ear.

- 4 Pass the needle from the tip of the ear through the rear side. Repeat this step two or three times.

- 5 Attach the other ear in the same way to complete the head.

Attaching the head

1 Pass the end of the body's thread through the wool needle, and make running stitches (stitches passing the needle in and out in a straight line) around the edge.

2 After completing one row, pull the thread to tighten, then pass it through the body, and cut the thread.

3 Tighten the end of the head's thread lightly.

4 Pass the end of a leg's thread through the wool needle. Attach the leg to the body.

5 The body is now attached to the head.

Attaching the legs

1 Pass the end of a leg's thread through the wool needle. Attach the leg to the body.

2 After the other leg is attached, pass the same thread through both legs and the body two to three times to affix them. This prevents the legs from spreading apart, and makes the dog stand.

Attaching the tail

1 Attach the tail to complete the work

Wind the thread around a piece of cardboard several times to shape it. Tie the top part with another piece of thread, and pull it off the cardboard. Attach it to the head with the same thread that was used to tie it. Refer to the instructions per dog for the width of the cardboard, and the number of times the thread should be wound.

Tear a piece of felt wool into pieces of moderate sizes, and softly wad them up with your fingers. Place the pieces on the body, and poke them with a felting needle to twine around the stitches.

Various types and sizes of eyes and noses

If you wish to outline the rims of the eyes, paint the reverse side of the eyes with a whiteout pen.

There are various types of eyes, such as plastic eyes, plastic sewing buttons, and insertable plastic button eyes. Large 0.41 in eyes are only used for the Chihuahua. For noses, 0.18–0.47 in pegs are used.

Beginners' Guide

Crochet chart symbols

The crocheting method for each dog is accompanied by charts. Refer to the chart symbols below, and start from the first row. The crocheting method is explained in the steps for the Jack Russell Terrier (pages 32–43) in addition to the instructions on page 71.

Materials

The Jack Russell Terrier shown on page 30 is the standard size. The types of yarns used for each dog are indicated, but you can freely use various yarns in different thicknesses to make dogs in different sizes.

Refer to the dogs shown at the bottom of pages 2 and 3 to see how the different breeds look together. You may choose to make individual dogs smaller or larger to appear as puppies or adult dogs, depending on how you want your family to look.

Tools

Only crochet hooks in different sizes are specified in the step-by-step method for each dog. You will also need a wool needle, scissors, and glue for all projects. See page 31.

Step-by-step method

Refer to the procedures in the step-by-step method for the Jack Russell Terrier. However, you can freely change the order of attaching the ears, legs, tails, and other parts. You can also adjust the position of each part according to your preference, as long as you check the overall balance.

Others

If you are making a seated dog, stuff weights, such as pellets or nuts, inside the buttocks of the dog to keep the dog seated.

Jack Russell Terrier

See page 6.

Both dogs in a standing position and seated position are crocheted in the same way.

Materials (for both types of dogs)

- White thread, 0.25 oz
- Brown thread, 0.28 oz
- Synthetic cotton
- Black plastic sewing buttons, 2 pieces, 0.24 in each
- Black nose, 1 piece, 0.47 in

Tool

Step-by-step method

1. Crochet each body part.
2. Stuff cotton inside the head, body, and legs.
3. Attach the eyes to the head.
4. Attach the nose to the mouth and stuff cotton in it.
5. Attach the mouth to the head.
6. Attach the ears to the head.
7. Crochet the last row of the body with the remaining thread, tie and knot.
8. Pass the remaining thread through the last row of the head and tighten it lightly, then attach it to the body.
9. Attach the legs and the tail to the body.

The legs are crocheted in the same way as the Jack Russell Terrier—seven rows for the front legs of the seated dog, six rows for the hind legs of the seated dog, and all the rows for the legs of the reclining dog. The ears are crocheted by winding the thread 15 times around a sheet of 1.57 in wide cardboard, as shown on pages 43 and 47. The tail is crocheted by winding the thread 10 times around a sheet of 1.18 in wide cardboard.

Materials (for both types of dogs)

- [White and silver]
- White mohair thread, 0.25 oz
- Gray mohair thread, 0.25 oz
- Pink felt, 2 sheets, 0.6 in x 0.78 in each
- Synthetic cotton
- Brown plastic sewing buttons, 2 pieces, 0.35 in each
- Black nose, 1 piece, 0.47 in

- [White and gold]
- White mohair thread, 0.25 oz
- Brown mohair thread, 0.25 oz
- Red felt, 2 sheets, 0.6 in x 0.78 in each
- The rest of the materials are the same as those for the white and silver dog.

- Crochet hook, No. 4/0

Step-by-step method

- [Reclining Shih Tzu]
1. Crochet each body part.
 2. Stuff cotton inside the head, body, and legs.
 3. Attach the eyes to the head.
 4. Attach the nose to the mouth, with its seam in front, and stuff cotton in it.
 5. Attach the mouth to the head.
 6. Crochet the last row of the body with the remaining thread, tie and knot.
 7. Pass the remaining thread through the last row of the head and tighten it lightly, then, attach it to the body.
 8. Attach the legs to the body.
 9. Wind wool around a sheet of cardboard to make the ears and the tail.
 10. Attach the ears to the head.
 11. Attach the tail to the body, and glue the base of the tail by twisting it.

Crochet hook No. 3/0
Crochet hook No. 2/0 (to crochet the legs, tails, and collars)

[Chihuahua, Japanese Shiba, Hokkaido dog]
Lacing needle No.2

Step-by-step method (for all types)

1. Crochet each body part. To make the head, see the corresponding diagrams for each dog. (The Shih Tzu's ears are made by winding thread 15 times around a sheet of 1.18 in wide cardboard.)
2. Stuff cotton inside the body (except for the legs).
3. Attach the body to the head.
4. Attach the legs and tail to the body.
5. Attach the ears to the head.
6. Make the collar by crocheting chain stitches in proportion to the neck circumference, then wind it around the neck, and stitch it up.
7. Crochet a double round ring on the head and attach a strap.

Mitsuki Hoshi

In 1999, Mitsuki, who likes Mickey Mouse very much, bought a Mickey Mouse crocheting kit, and that occasion became the start of her self-taught Amigurumi lessons. In the same year, her friend showed her a book written by an Amigurumi creator, which impressed her so much that she pursued the goal of becoming an Amigurumi creator herself, making everything from food to animals, and abiding by the motto “create everything with wool.”

In 2002, she launched her website, which presents purely Amigurumi animals. Her works have frequently been presented in pet magazines. Currently, she also teaches a class on crocheting Amigurumi dogs.

This Amigurumi handbook is filled with miniature puppies. Photos inside reveal the secret, devilish world of your little friends, along with easy-to-follow patterns to help you create them. These sweet creatures are perfect additions to any Amigurumi collection.
