General Information

About Zeros

In patterns which include various sizes, zeros are sometimes necessary. For example, K0 (0, 1) means if you are making size Small or size Medium, you would do nothing and if you are making a size Large, you would K1.

Working from Charts

The chart in this book is used when knitting with more than one color per row. When working in rows, read odd numbered rows from right to left, and even numbered rows from left to right.

Odd numbered rows represent the right side of your work, and are usually knit. Even numbered rows represent the wrong side of your work, and are usually purled.

How to Check Gauge

Please take the time to work a stitch gauge swatch about 4" x 4". Measure the swatch. If the number of stitches and rows are fewer than indicated under "Gauge" in the pattern, your needles are too large. Try another swatch with smaller size needles. If the number of stitches and rows are more than indicated under "Gauge" in the pattern, your needles are too small. Try another swatch with larger size needles.

Terms

Right Side of the garment means the side that will be seen when it is worn.

Wrong Side of the garment means the side that will be inside when it is worn.

Right Front means the part of the garment that will be worn on the right front.

Left Front means the part of the garment that will be worn on the left front.

Continue in Pattern as Established is usually used in a pattern stitch, and means to continue following the pattern stitch as it is already set up (established), working any subsequent increases or decreases in such a way that the established pattern remains the same.

Work even means to continue to work in the pattern as established, without working any increases or decreases.

* An asterisk is used to mark the beginning of a portion of instructions to be worked more than once; thus, "rep from * twice more" means after working the instructions once, repeat the instructions following the asterisk twice more (3 times in all).

— The number after a long dash at the end of a row or round indicates the number of stitches you should have when the row or round has been completed. The long dash can also be used to indicate a completed stitch such as a decrease.

() Parentheses are used to enclose instructions which should be worked the exact number of times specified immediately following the parentheses, such as "(K2, P2) twice."

() Parentheses are used to provide additional information to clarify instructions.
