INTRODUCTION

My dad had the coolest art supply box that he painted with various Peanuts characters when he was a kid. I used to stare at that box and think two things: I have the coolest dad ever, and how did he paint them so well? My dad passed away a few years ago, and now the box is mine. I still think those same two things every time I look at it. He would have been so excited to hear that I was working on this collection, so I very much dedicate this one to him.

Peanuts characters are a part of childhood for almost everyone, whether it's watching A Charlie Brown Christmas every year or reading the Sunday comic strip. The characters are sweet, relatable, and remind us of the beauty and heartache of friendship. The fact that Charles M. Schulz's comic strip ran for fifty years and continues to rerun, is a true testament to the impact these seemingly simple illustrations have on our culture. I'd like to think that Mr. Schulz would be tickled yellow to see his characters brought to life in a new medium. I hope you enjoy making these projects as much I enjoyed working on them.

xo,
Kristen

TECHNIQUES & TERMINOLOGY

Before you start any of the twelve cute patterns in this kit, practice the various stitches and learn their abbreviations.

Slip Knot (sk): Every crochet project begins with a slip knot.

1. Wrap the yarn around your finger, creating a loop with a six-inch tail. (fig. a)
2. Pull one end of the yarn through the loop to create a knot. The knot should be taut, but not too tight to slip your hook through.

(figs. b and c)

Yarn Over (yo): A basic technique that's used frequently, "yarn over" simply means to wrap the yarn over the hook.

1. With your hook in your right hand and your yarn in your left, pull the yarn around from behind the hook.
2. The strand of your "working yarn" (the yarn coming from the skein) should be across the throat of your hook on top.

Slip Stitch (sl st): This stitch is used to connect pieces, strengthen edges, or fasten off stitches.

1. Insert hook into stitch.
2. Yo, then draw hook through chain and loop.

Chain Stitch (ch): The foundation of any project, the chain stitch is either worked in rows or in a ring. For most of the projects in this book, you will be working in a ring.

1. To begin a chain stitch, start with a slip knot.
2. Yo, then draw yarn through the loop, making the first stitch. Continue working in this manner until you have the desired number of stitches.

(figs. d and e)

Working into the chain: Occasionally a pattern will say to work into the front or back of a chain. The front of the chain looks like a series of Vs, and the back of the chain has a ridge (or bump) behind each chain stitch.

Back loop only (BLO): Occasionally a pattern will ask you to work in the back loop only. When you look at your chain, you will insert your hook into the back of the loop only. (fig. f)

Front loop only (FLO): Occasionally a pattern will ask you to work in the front loop only. When you look at your chain, you will insert your hook into the front of the loop only. (fig. g)

Single Crochet (sc):

1. Insert your hook into desired stitch. (fig. h)
2. Yo and draw yarn through the loop. You will now have two loops on your hook.
3. Yo again and draw yarn through both loops to complete a single crochet. (figs. i and j—NEXT PAGE)

Picot Stitch: This stitch is usually done with three chains but here is just with two. (fig. k—NEXT PAGE)

1. Chain two times (ch 2).
2. Sl st first ch, sl st in second ch.

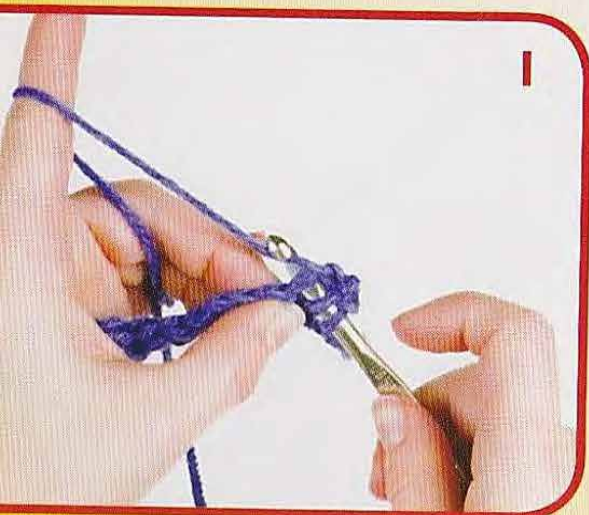

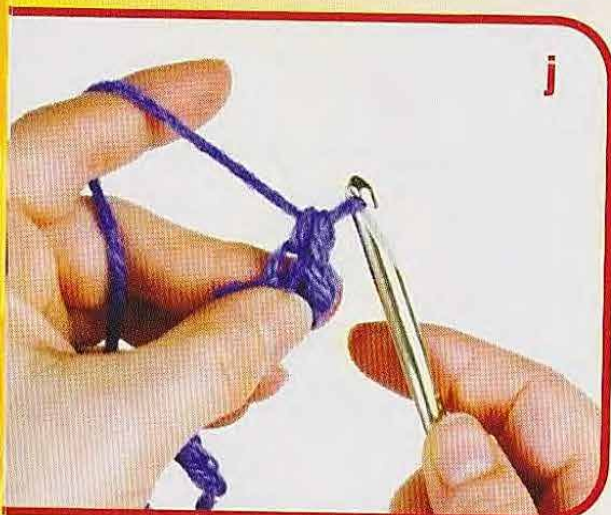

Adjustable Ring: Because amigurumi pieces are made mostly “in the round,” the adjustable ring is the first step of many patterns and is an invaluable technique to master. An adjustable ring is used to mark where the circle begins and ends, so you can keep track of which row you’re working on.

1. Chain two times (ch 2).
2. Sl st through the first stitch. Each pattern will then tell how many single crochets to make in the ring.

Half Double Crochet (hdc): This stitch is between single crochet and double crochet in height.

1. Yo and insert hook into the desired stitch.
2. Yo and draw yarn through the stitch, leaving three loops on your hook.
3. Yo one last time and draw yarn through all three loops.

Double Crochet (dc): The double crochet, the most commonly used stitch, is taller than the single crochet.

1. Yo first, then insert hook into a desired stitch. (fig. l)
2. Yo, then draw your hook through the stitch, leaving three loops on the hook. (fig. m)
3. Yo, then draw yarn through the first two loops on the hook, leaving both loops on the hook. Yo one more time and pull yarn through the two remaining loops.

Extended Half Double Crochet (ehdc):

1. Yo first, then insert hook into a desired stitch.
2. Yo, then draw your hook through the stitch, leaving three loops on the hook.
3. Yo, then draw yarn through one loop on the hook, leaving three loops on the hook.
4. Yo, then draw up the last three loops on hook. (fig. n)

Half Treble Crochet (htr): A step between the double crochet and treble crochet.

1. Yo, insert hook into desired stitch.
2. Yo, draw through loop.
3. Yo, pull through all three loops on hook.

Treble Crochet (tr): This stitch is used to make the longest stitches.

1. Yo hook two times, then insert hook into desired stitch.
2. Yo hook and draw yarn through the stitch, leaving four loops on the hook.
3. Yo and draw yarn through two loops, leaving three loops on the hook.
4. Yo and draw yarn through two loops, leaving two loops on the hook.
5. Yo and draw yarn through last two remaining loops.

DECREASING:

Single Crochet Two Together (sc2tog): This abbreviation for decreasing means to single crochet the next two stitches together. By doing this, you will combine stitches, making the piece smaller.

1. Insert your hook into the desired stitch.
2. Yo, pull through loop.
3. Insert hook into the next stitch and draw up loop, leaving three loops on hook.

(fig. o)

4. Yo, then draw yarn through all three loops.

Single Crochet Three Together (sc3tog): This abbreviation for decreasing means to single crochet the next three stitches together. By doing this, you will combine stitches, making the piece smaller.

1. Insert hook into desired stitch.
2. Yo, pull through loop.
3. Insert hook into second stitch.
4. Yo, pull through loop.
5. Insert hook into third stitch.
6. Yo, pull through loop.
7. Yo and pull through all four loops.

(fig. p)

Front Post Double Crochet (fpdc):

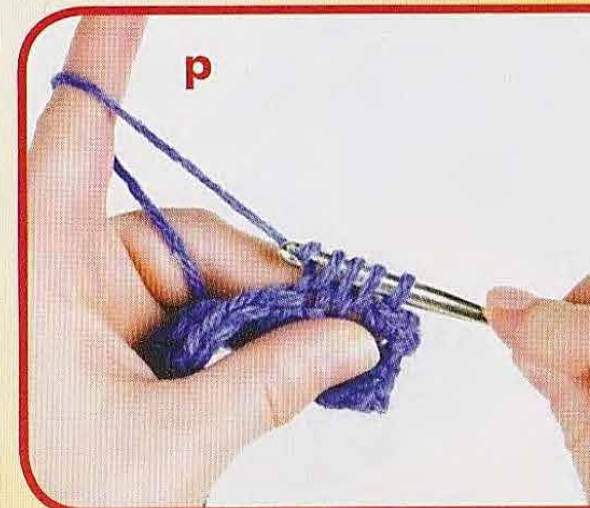

1. Yo, insert hook from the front of the post, going into the back, then coming out to the front again, draw up a loop.
2. Yo and pull through two loops.
3. Yo and pull through both loops.

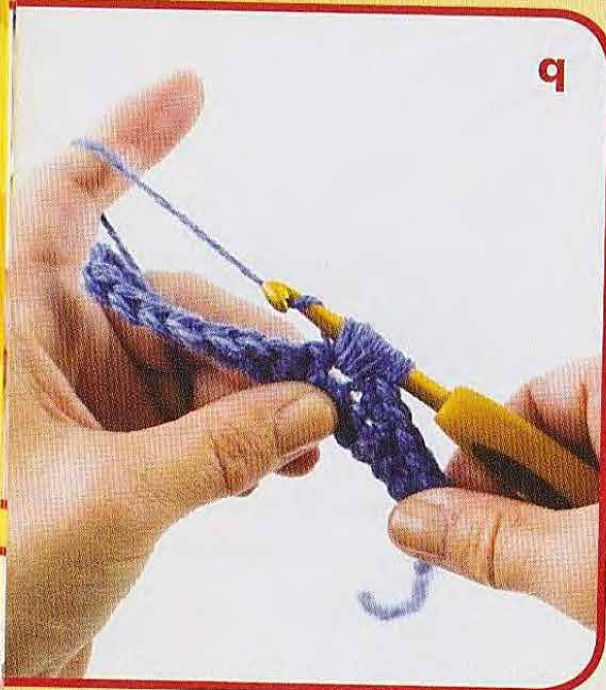

Back Post Double Crochet (bpdc):

1. Yo, insert hook from the back of the post, going into the front, then coming out to the back again, draw up a loop.
2. Yo and pull through two loops.
3. Yo and pull through both loops.

Half Double Crochet Together (hdc2tog): With this stitch, you make two half double crochets into one.

1. Yo, insert hook into desired stitch.
2. Pull up on loop.
3. Yo, insert hook into next stitch.
4. Pull up on loop.
5. Yo, pull through all five loops on hook.

Ball Stitch of Puff Stitch (hdc4tog) (fig. q):

1. Yo, insert hook into desired stitch.
2. Pull up loop (three loops on hook).
3. Yo and insert your hook into same st.
4. Pull through loops (five loops on st).
5. Yo and insert your hook into same st.
6. Pull through loops (seven loops on st).
7. Yo and insert your hook into same st.
8. Pull through loops (nine loops on st).
9. Yo and draw through all nine loops.

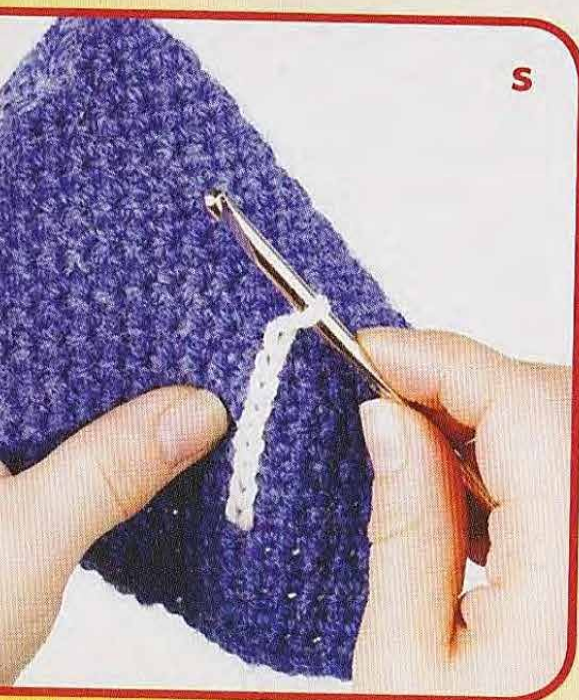

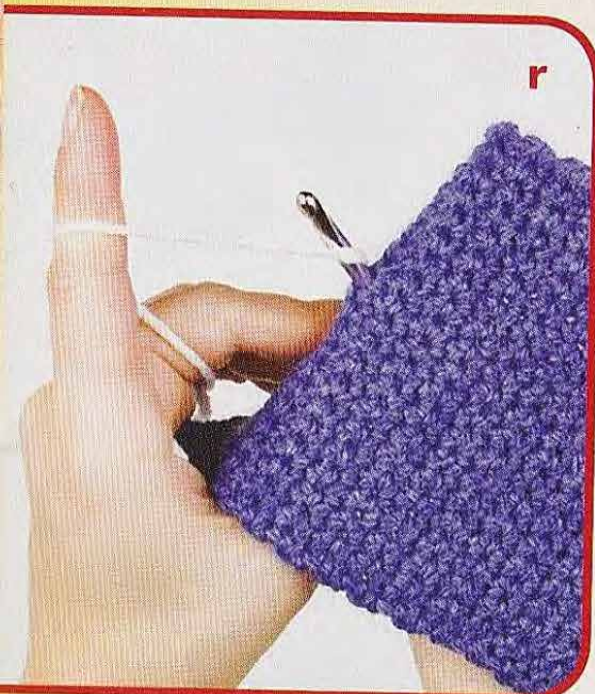

Adding yarn: To change colors or start on a new skein after running out of yarn, follow these simple steps.

At the end of a row:

1. Make a slip knot with the new skein, leaving a tail.
2. Insert the hook where you are to start crocheting.
3. Continue to follow pattern.

In the middle of a row, change yarn when there are two loops left on your hook:

1. Grab old yarn together with a six-inch tail of new yarn.
2. Yo the new yarn as usual.
3. Pull through the two loops on the hook, completing the stitch.

Weave in ends: This finishing step means to sew (or “weave”) yarn into a finished piece to prevent unraveling. After cutting a six-inch tail, thread yarn onto a yarn needle and weave through the back of the project’s stitches. Do not go in and out of the project, as it will appear on the finished side and show.

Crochet surface chain/embroidery chain: To create designs on crocheted fabric, use slip stitches to “draw” your design:

1. Make a slip knot.
2. Attach the knot to the back of your work so you can’t see it through the front.
3. Remove hook from the back and insert it from the back of work into a stitch next to the working loop in the front.

4. Insert hook into working loop and pull the loop through so that you are at the front of the work.
5. Begin making slip stitches with your yarn feeding from the back of your work. (fig. r)
6. Insert hook into desired stitch.
7. Yo and draw through loop.
8. Continue with your design. (fig. s)
9. When done, remove the hook from the working loop.
10. Insert hook from the back of your work, picking up working loop and bringing it to the back.
11. Yo and pull through loop. Finish off and weave in ends.

Hook size: At the beginning of each pattern, a desired hook size is listed. Hook sizes range from small at the beginning of the alphabet to larger as the letters go on. The hook size affects the gauge—the number of stitches in a square inch—and will determine the finished project size. Tighter stitches will ensure that stuffing won't emerge through gaps, although they should be loose enough to work through them with the hook.

Reading a pattern: The patterns in this book are mostly in rounds (rnd), meaning instead of being made in flat “rows” of stitches, they're worked in circular rows of stitches, or “rounds.”

- Using a stitch marker is highly recommended to keep track of the start of each round.
- Asterisks surrounding instructions indicate that you should repeat that set of steps.

Example: 2sc in st, 3sc

Translation: single crochet two times in same stitch and then single crochet three times and repeat those steps around.

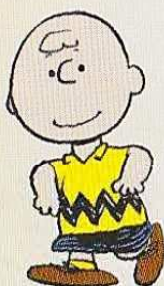

- A number following asterisked instructions indicates how many stitches should be in that round, which can be highly beneficial to those new to crochet.

Example: 4sc, (sc2tog) 2x

Translation: single crochet four times, and then single crochet two together two times, and repeat those steps around.

The hairline will need about 10 strands of yarn.
- Sally will have a middle hair part, so continue hooking yarn strands on each side of the middle part, from the hairline to the crown, about 3 strands per side. At the crown, attach yarn strands in the direction of the rnds to fill out the back of the Head. Fill in another row of yarn for each side of the part and the crown to have enough Hair to work with and cover the Head.

- Tie a low ponytail, but first leave out all the strands from the hairline as well as 2 strands (4 pieces of yarn) from each side of the middle hair part close to the center of the hairline. Tie the ponytail about a centimeter below the bottom of the hairline. Check that you have enough clearance to tuck the ends under and sew them down, then trim the ends, but don't sew down yet.
- To create the side swoops, start with 1 side and hold the top 5 strands on that side—the first 3 from the hairline, and the top 2 from the middle part. Begin twisting this bundle of hair away from Sally's face. With your finger at about an inch away from the scalp, holding the twisted Hair, pin the bundle back on the scalp, creating a small twisted horn. Sew this down to keep it in place. Keep twisting Hair away from Sally's face, picking up the rest of the Hair on the side of the hairline. Twist and sew down behind the Ear until you reach the back of the Head. Repeat with the other side.

- The ends of the side swoops will be tucked under the low ponytail, so sew down the side swoops and trim the ends, making sure the ends will fit behind the ponytail. Then sew down the ponytail, making sure that everything looks tucked and neat.

HAIR

- Using Light Brown yarn and H hook, repeat Rnds 1–8 of Head.

Rnd 9: sc in each st (27)

- Sl st to next st to join. Break off, leaving 24 inches of yarn.
- Position Hair on Head, slightly angled toward the back so that the face remains visible and you have about 2 rnds of clearance from the Eyebrows.
- Use yarn tail to sew Hair to Head.
- Prepare yarn to create Hair strands. Cut 5 12-inch lengths of Light Brown yarn. You can use a ruler or a piece of cardboard cut to the right length to wrap yarn around and then cut.
- Attach the 5 strands of yarn for the bangs along the front and center of hairline. (fig. 7h) The method of attaching each yarn strand is similar to latchhooking. Insert hook into desired st, hook through center of yarn strand, and pull through st about 1 inch. Then yo both yarn tails and pull both through loop on hook. Start with 1 strand in the very center, and then attach 1 on each side of that strand, and then 1 on each side of those strands for a total of 5.

- Form the pouf of the bangs by twisting all strands with your finger in a counterclockwise motion, or towards yourself. (fig. 7i) Sew the bundle of yarn down on the right side (the doll's left) of this front section, aligned above the outer side of the Eyebrows. Keep twisting the yarn and guide it back toward the left side of the front section and sew down again. You just created a nice bump for the bangs. Now use the remaining lengths of yarn to sweep across toward the right side, but don't twist the yarn. Let it lie straight across the bundle you created. Use more yarn and your tapestry needle to wrap the end of the bundle and sew it down to the right side again. You can carefully trim the ends of the bundle as well. You want to leave a little bit sticking out. Mentally establish the doll's hair part, which will be on your left or the doll's right.

- To create the rest of the short bob hairstyle, string as much yarn on your needle as you can deal with, and sew long sts from hair part to neck, all over the Head. Occasionally cut the yarn and rejoin to create loose strands. You will have to restring your tapestry needle several times throughout this process. Try not to pull the long sts too tightly or else the Head will warp.
